

Article presentation: Each student will be responsible for presenting and leading discussion on one of the required meetings (roughly 45 minutes, potentially as a small group). Presentations should include: a brief summary of the background, goals, and motivation for the paper, including connection to relevant material already discussed in class; presentation of the proposal and critical discussion of the arguments; discussion of puzzles raised or predictions made by the analysis, and any questions that arise.

Final paper and presentation: A final paper is your chance to directly engage with the material and develop your own research project. Final papers should relate to the content of the course, and must go beyond summaries and critical review to make some original empirical and/or theoretical contribution. A successful
